INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

Park College is located in the village of Parkville on the K. C. St. J. & C. B. R. R., nine miles above Kansas City, of which metropolis a train service of eleven trains a day makes it practically a suburb. The college buildings as a rule, have been located upon the bluffs overlooking the Missouri River. The hills have been terraced to receive them by student labor, and from every standpoint of beauty and of health, the location is an ideal one. It is now twenty-five years since Park College had its humble beginnings that were visible to the world. In fact its beginnings date back much further than 1875. For many years, two men unknown to each other, had felt the same need, and tried to meet it. The need is tersely expressed in the following paragraph from the Charter expressing the purpose of the Founders of Park College: "The object of this corporation shall ever be, to diffuse knowledge, moral and religious principles, in the most practical and effectual manner. To afford the advantages of training and education to the youth of both sexes, of the country; to give especially facilities to the youth found worthy and not having sufficient means, who may be inured to hardship, to obtain an education by labor or otherwise."

In June, 1850, Geo. S. Park, one of the pioneer settlers of the Platte purchase, laid out a tract of land as a "college site." Col. Park had been a faithful elder, and active worker in all Christian lines for many years in that locality. Keenly observant and interested in the progress of affairs, he saw the moral and mental desert about him. He saw the aggressive spirit of the Catholic church and the strenuous effort to occupy the point of vantage—working, studying, praying over these problems, he became convinced that great good could be done, great success and stability attained, by an Institution of learning whose principal object should be the study of the Scriptures, and practical drill in methods of Christian work. He felt that an Institution could be a success based,

I. Upon the study of the Bible.

II. A course in the liberal arts for mental development and broad culture.

III. A practical training in all those things needed in the common walks of life. In short that an Institution, that added to learning, instruction in the Christian virtues, and to those economy and wisdom in the every day affairs of life, was, under careful direction and supervision, bound to succeed.

The college site laid out in 1850 remained but a site for many years. The ante slavery agitation, especially to the admission of Kansas as a state, became violent, and Mr. Park who championed the right of Kansas, to decide for herself the question of slavery, was for the time driven from his home, his property wrecked, and his printing press thrown into the river by the mob. Returning however before the civil war, he was yet delayed in his plans by the war and disorder following its termination. In 1872 however he went to Platte Presbytery with these plans and offers of buildings, money and lands. The offer was not accepted, but it was the seed that bore as its fruit, Park College. The offer became widely known, and God raised up a helper for this work.

Rev. John A. McAfee, D. D., having worked his way through College, began immediately seeking a way to meet the same need which had impressed Mr. Park. His own experience fitted him to enter into sympathy with those who were debarred from an education by lack of money. His early efforts were signally successful in the quality of men and women trained for Christian service, but from a financial standpoint were prophesies of failure. There would have been failure, but that a God given idea cannot be crushed. He realized as perhaps few men do, that God had ordained him to special work. Difficulties sprung up at the very threshold, and in some form held place until the pearly gates were lifted, and he was ushered into the mansions of heavenly rest and certainty. But to him the command to "Go forward" was never recalled. In 1875 these two men, Geo. Shepard Park and Rev. John A. McAfee met; and each recognizing in the other a kindred spirit combined their forces in the establishment of Park College. With the same purposes and ideals in view they in a wonderful degree supplemented each other.

The one conservative and with unerring business instinct. The other enthusiastic, and capable of arousing enthusiasm in others. Great in planning and persistent to accomplish. Both devoted to the work at hand.

Both men were called from their earthly labors before seeing a large measure of success.

It was a dark day for Park College when on June 9, 1890, we stood around Mr. Park's grave and paid our tearful homage to one who had conceived and cherished throughout a long life the idea of the institution. Just one week from that day, June 16th, 1890, we stood beside Dr. McAfee's grave. Associated for fifteen years in developing and establishing the peculiar educational idea for which Park College stands, they were called to their reward within one week. "They rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

From that time the work has been in the hands of the Board of Trustees with the loyal and efficient service of Mrs. Dr. McAfee and her children, all of whom are now engaged in the work. What the growth has been must be told in a few words.

The work of instruction begun May 12, 1875, with 20 students enrolled, has continued until now the attendance by actual count is 358. In 1876 the first class was graduated and without exception a class has been sent forth every year since that time until her roll of graduates now numbers 348, every one a Christian. And this too with the degree of A. B., based upon a curriculum of study and requirement as high as other colleges having only the course in liberal arts. It would occupy too much space to attempt a resume of the progress or give the present status of the college, although such will be gladly furnished on request and may appear to some extent elsewhere in this catalogue. To sum up in a few words, Park College is now on an enduring foundation. She offers first class facilities in buildings, equipment, curriculum of studies and faculty to those desirous of obtaining a thorough education, and to those who are unable to obtain an education except by the aid of their own exertions aside from study she offers an opportunity if the conditions be met. To all, she offers the advantages to be derived from a Christian environment.

GENERAL STATEMENTS.

BUILDINGS.

The stone building, which was for so many years the only home of Park College, has been reconstructed and remodeled. It is now used for dormitories for young men and bears the name Woodward Hall, in memory of the late Rev. Geo. S. Woodward.

McCormick Chapel was erected in 1887. Here the religious exercises of the institution are held. The Presbyterian Church of the village also uses it for public worship. It has a seating capacity of eight hundred.

Mackay was begun in 1887, and was occupied March 13th, 1893. It is a stone building, three stories and a basement. The third floor is arranged for Literary Society Halls and Lecture Halls. The first and second floors are used for lecture rooms. In the basement are located the Biological and Chemical Laboratories. Thirty-two desks in the Biological Laboratory are equipped with compound and dissecting microscopes, dissecting cases and other accessories necessary for thorough biological study. The Chemical Laboratory accommodates thirty-two students and is fitted with the usual reagents and equipment.

The Charles Smith Scott Observatory, erected and equipped by Mr. Anthony Dey, New York City, has just been completed. The equipment consists of an eight inch equatorial, with the usual attachments of micrometer, helioscope and full set of eye pieces; a four and one half inch equatorial, a compound transit and zenith telescope of a three inch aperture; a chronograph and sidereal clock. The latter is of German manufacture and was imported specially for the College.

The institution has nine dormitories and homes for students, eleven private residences occupied by members of the Faculty and those directly connected with the work of the institution.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

A prominent feature of the institution has always been the religious instruction. The regular chapel exercises are held at one o'clock each day. All students are required to be present, being provided with a singing book and Bible. Each one must join in the exercises. A half-hour is thus spent. The Spirit of God in the past has wonderfully owned and blessed the presentation of the Word in these exercises. A few of the visiting friends who have been with us at that hour since the last issue of the catalogue are:

Rev. S. C. Palmer, D. D.,	Pastor Lafayette Park church,	St. Louis, Mo.
Rev. John B. Devins, N. Y. Observer,	Editorial Staff,	New York City, N. Y.
Rev. Wm. H. Penhallegon, D. D.,	Pastor Pres. church,	Decatur, Ill.
Rev. F. F. Soren,	Missionary,	Rio de Janeiro, Brazil
Rev. T. W. Houston,	Missionary,	Nanking, China
John H. MacCracken, Ph. D.,	Pres. Westminster College,	Fulton, Mo.
Rev. B. Y. George, D. D.,	Pastor Pres. church,	Elmhurst, Ill.
Rev. Wm. M. Baird,	Missionary,	Seoul, Korea
Rev. John G. Paton, D. D.,	Missionary,	New Hebrides
Rev. Wm. H. Black, D. D.,	Pres. Mo. Valley College,	Marshall, Mo.
Rev. S. M. Neel, D. D.,	Pastor Central Pres. church,	Kansas City, Mo.
Rev. C. B. Wilcox, D. D.,	Pastor Grand Ave. M. E. church,	Kansas City, Mo.
Rev. J. O'B. Lowry, D. D.,	Pastor Calvary Baptist church,	Kansas City, Mo.
Rev. W. C. Templeton, Ph. D.,	Pastor Pres. church,	Monett, Mo.
Rev. Benj. L. Hobson, D. D.,	Prof. McCormick Seminary,	Chicago, Ill.
Major R. W. McClaughry,	Warden U. S. Prison,	Leavenworth, Kans.

The Day of Prayer for Colleges, January 25, 1900, was observed by a Faculty prayer meeting; a similar meeting by each class, College, and Academy; the regular noon chapel service; and two special addresses by Rev. Wm. Carter, pastor First Presbyterian Church, Kansas City, Mo.

READING ROOM AND LIBRARY.

A large, well-lighted room in Mackay has been set apart for this department until a Library Building can be erected. In the College Reading Room will be found most of the leading religious papers of the Presbyterian Church, and a number of those of other denominations. The principal magazines are also on file. Helps on the Sabbath School lesson and Mission Literature, both Home and Foreign, are conspicuous. The library of general literature has a place in the Reading Room until permanent quarters can be provided for it. The library contains 12000 volumes of books and 5000 copies of magazines. 476 copies have been bound. Pool's Index makes the magazines specially serviceable for reference.

During the year the last invoice was received of the gift of Mr Stanley R. McCormick, Chicago, Ill. The entire gift, amounting to $4200, has greatly improved our library. The selection of the volumes was made by the several members of the Faculty having in mind the needs of their departments. To the list was added a large number of volumes of a general character. Thus has been secured a library eminently suited to the needs of a college. The Dewey system has been used for the classification and catalogue; a librarian, well qualified for the position, has guided and to a large extent, controlled the reading of the student body; while proving specially helpful to the different Professors in supplying references to the students for class room work. Our gratitude to Mr. McCormick for the liberal and timely gift cannot be adequately expressed. The effect of a good library can not be told. Consciously or unconsciously its helpful tendency is ever present, and is making its impress upon the work of every class in College and Academy. A number of volumes have been received from other friends, to whom, as a college, students, Faculty and Board of Trustees, we are very grateful.

BOOK ROOM.

A peculiar feature of the work of the institution is the text book department of the library. Most of the text books used by the students are owned by the College and furnished the students for class room work. When the term's work has been completed the books are returned to the book room and stored for use the following year. In this way the same book will answer for several successive classes. There are 3464 volumes in this department. Contributions of text books will be much appreciated.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

College and Third and Fourth year students have been organized into independent associations for usual Literary and Society work. Three halls in Mackay have been furnished and are controlled by them. The Philolexian, composed of young men of the Academy classes, occupies Bullard Hall. Parchevard (young men) and the Calliopean Society (young women) occupy Park Hall. The Lowell Literary Club (young men) and the Lucerne Society (young women) occupy Cheever Hall. The young men hold their meetings Saturday evening and the young ladies Monday evening of each week. A literary program consisting of recitations, essays, orations, discussions and debates, occupies the time of each. Park has reason to be proud of her literary societies and the work being done by them.

ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

In 1888 an Oratorical Association was organized as a part of the Inter-Collegiate Association of the state of Missouri. Two local contests are held each year on successive evenings. The successful contestant represents the College in the State contest held once a year. The Oratorical Association is a very helpful feature in increasing the interest in oratory. Park was represented in the Inter-Collegiate contest in 1897 by Perl D. Decker '97 who won first place. He represented the state in the Inter-State contest held May 6, '97, at Columbia, Mo. At this contest he won first place. In 1900 the college was represented by Herbert E. Blair 1901.

THE MUSEUM.

A start has been made toward a Museum of Natural History. The available space in the second-floor hall, the office, and the Biology room is occupied by cases and the curios and specimens at hand are in place, the majority of them being classified.

These collections include a human skeleton, also of the cat and frog; skulls of the sheep, horse and fish, three type specimens of each class of Invertebrates: together with eggs of the fish and sea urchin. The insect cabinet contains one thousand local insects, among which are seven hundred Lepidoptera and two hundred Coleoptera, with several rare specimens from New York and California. Many of these are duplicates.

Botany is represented by fifty native wood sections, and by an herbarium of the plants of New York, the gift of S. J. Teran, with the early summer flora of Missouri.

The Educational Series of rocks furnished by the U. S. Geological Survey includes one hundred and fifty rocks, minerals and fossils from all parts of the country, carefully arranged and labeled. With these appear some local geodes and Lamellibranches. A few very valuable specimens of gold and silver ores, some beautiful abilone shells, corals and Echinoderms from the Pacific have been recently donated by Mrs. Geo. Lawrence in memory of her son Park.

Park graduates on the mission fields have generously favored their Alma Mater. Rev. Frank D. Hickman's collection of African weapons, musical instruments, household utensils, wearing apparel, rosaries and idols, is an object of interest. Rev. Hugh Taylor. Mrs. Jeannie H. McClure, Miss Else J. Bates and others have contributed Siamese coins and models. Rev. Jas. Rennie has added some rare Colorado minerals, Mrs. Ida Muir Snyder's collection of minerals from southwest Missouri is a valuable one.

Extensive travel is permitted to very few, but every new addition to our Museum brings nearer the countries and peoples across the sea, and the distant parts of our own land with its varied flora and fauna. Any gifts of cabinets or specimens our friends may see fit to bestow will be greatly appreciated and enjoyed.

COMMENCEMENT DAY PROGRAM.

When any graduating class numbers 10 or less, each member shall appear on the program for the day. When the class numbers 11 or more, 8 members shall appear and the program shall be determined as follows: the student receiving the highest grade for the four years of his college course—minus the grades of the third term of the Senior year—shall be valedictorian, and the one receiving the next highest shall be salutatorian. The Salutatory shall be in Latin. These shall constitute their literary duties for the day.

The young lady having the highest grade for the course (at the end of the second term of the Senior year), exclusive of Valedictorian and Salutatorian, shall deliver the "Honor Essay." The young man who stands first in class-room work (at the end of the second term of the Senior year), exclusive of Valedictorian and Salutatorian, shall deliver the "Honor Oration."

All members of the class may submit productions for the prizes offered Commencement Day. No essay shall exceed ten hundred words and no oration shall exceed twelve hundred words. All such productions shall be in the hands of the Professor of Rhetoric by 6 P. M., Friday of the last week of the second term. Those submitted by the Valedictorian and Salutatorian shall not be given by him to the committee for criticism.

The oration marked the highest, exclusive of the one submitted by the "Honor Orator," should such be the highest, and the essay marked highest, exclusive of the one submitted by the "Honor Essayist," should such be the highest, shall be delivered and marked "Literary Oration" and "Literary Essay" respectively.

In addition to the six thus gaining a place on the program, the class shall elect a "Class Essayist" and a "Class Orator."

Announcement of Honor Essay, Literary Essay, Honor Oration and Literary Oration shall be made as soon as possible after the productions have been returned by the committee. The class shall make their selection within three days following such announcement.

The complete roll of the class shall appear on the programs. All whose grades for the course are 90 per cent or over shall receive honorable mention. How each performer gained his place on the program shall be indicated.

The Baccalaureate Sermon of 1901 was preached by the Rev. C. B. McAfee, D. D., '84, Parkville, Mo.

The address before the graduating class of the Academy was delivered by Rev. Dr. B. F. Crissman, '93, Kansas City, Mo.

rence and Rev. W. H. Mason, for the best theses on assigned work in English Literature. Awarded in 1899 1st to Robert M. Dick, '99.

" "Debt of Keats to Greece."

2nd to T. Henry Hepburn, '99.

7. CHAS. S. SCOTT ASTRONOMY PRIZES. These prizes are $15 and $10, income of endowment by Mr. Anthony Dey of New York City. Awarded for best examination in Astronomy and solution of special problems. Awarded in 1899 1st to I. Mertie Armstrong, '00.

2nd to Chas. H. Hamilton, '00.

8. CHAS. S. SCOTT BIBLICAL PRIZES. These prizes, $15 and $10, are the income of endowment by Mr. Anthony Dey of New York City. Awarded for repetition of book of Proverbs and best examination in Old and New Testament History. Awarded in 1899 1st to Hettie D. Hotchkin, '01.

2nd to Herbert M. Course, '02.

9. THE KAHM GERMAN PRIZE. This prize, $5 is contributed by Mr. Frederick Kahm of Park's Board of Trustees, for the best grade in an examination in German. Awarded in 1899 to Blanche Howard, '00.

10. BREEN HISTORICAL PRIZE. This prize of $10 is contributed by Mr. C. P. Breen, Pres. Park Bank, Parkville, Mo., and is offered to Freshmen for best grade in examination in General History. Awarded in 1899 1st to Hettie D. Hotchkin, '01.

2nd to Ernest M. Patterson, '02.

11. FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE DECLAMATORY PRIZES. These prizes are of books awarded the ones delivering the best declamations in a contest between the members of the classes. Awarded in 1899 1st to Edwin M. Thomasson, '02.

2nd to Robert Buchanan, '01.

12. THIRD AND FOURTH YEAR ACADEMY DECLAMATORY PRIZES. These prizes are of books, awarded the ones delivering the best declamations in a contest between the members of the classes. Awarded in 1899 1st to George E. Newell, '00.

2nd to L. Peryle Cotten, '99.

1899 1st to Theresa M. Kalb, '99.

2nd to Frank Zugg, '99.

3rd to Maurice Roberts, '99.

14. PRIZES IN HYGIENE BY MRS. G. A. LAWRENCE. These prizes are awarded to young ladies of the Senior class for first and second best notes on lectures. First prize $3., Second prize $2. Awarded in 1899 1st to I. Maude Armstrong '99,

2nd to Mary R. Armstrong '99.

15. PENHALLEGON ACADEMY PRIZE. This prize of $10 is offered by Rev. Wm. H. Penhallegon D. D., of Decatur, Ill.

Not available in 1899.

16. THE DR. BULLARD PRIZE IN GERMAN. Given to that member of the class who makes the highest grade in Goethe's "Faust."

DEGREES

The degree, A. B. is given to each student who completes the course.

The degree Litt. B. (Litterarum Baccalaureae) is given to young ladies who complete the "L. B. Course," (see course of study.)

The degrees A. M. and Litt. M. (Magister Artium and Litterarum) will be given, "only upon satisfactory examinations in Post-Graduate studies as arranged by the Faculty, and not earlier than two years after graduation, when non-resident work is done or after one year of resident work. This rule to become operative at once with the provision that former graduates may obtain degrees on the old terms within two years from the next Commencement."—Minutes of Board of Trustees, June, '93.

Lawrence, of Galesburg, Ill., Trustee of the College.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO COLLEGE.

No certificate from a preparatory school will be received as covering any part of the work of the College course.

All candidates for admission to the Freshman class will be required to pass a satisfactory examination in the Academy course of study, or present grades or certificates that can be accepted for the work.

Candidates for advanced standing will be examined upon the same branches, together with other studies previously pursued by the class to which they desire admission.

The regular times for entrance examinations are the Monday before Commencement and the last day of the summer vacations.

Students from other colleges will be required to present certificates of regular dismission.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO ACADEMY,

The Academy does not do ward school work. A certificate admitting the holder to a good High School will be accepted and the applicant enrolled in the first year, or he may be admitted by an examination in Ray's Practical Arithmetic complete or its equivalent, Reed and Kellogg's Higher Lessons in English complete or its equivalent, Reading, Spelling, Mental Arithmetic and Geography. A grade of 75 per cent will be required. Grades from other schools may or may not be accepted at the discretion of the Principal.

Applicants for admission to advanced classes will be examined in the above branches, together with the studies to which they desire admission up to the date of examination. The regular time for entrance examinations will be the last day of the summer vacation. Grades obtained from other institutions may or may not be accepted at the discretion of the Principal.

TEXT BOOKS FOR COLLEGE COURSE.

The following text books are in use:

MATHEMATICS.—Mattoon's Trigonometry and Surveying, Loomis' Analytic Geometry, Loomis' Calculus, Young's General Astronomy.

ENGLISH.—Gage's Philosophy, Alexander's Evidences of Christianity, Myer's General History, Montgomery's English History, Remsen's Chemistry, Remsen's Manual, Wood's Botany, Guizot's History of Civilization, Calderwood's Moral Philosophy, Bowne's Psychology, Creighton's Logic, Raub's English Literature, LeConte's Geology, Walker's Political Economy, Butler's Analogy, Genung's Rhetoric, Seelye's Schwegler's History of Philosophy, Painter's History of Education, Davis' International Law, Van Dyke's How to Judge a Picture, Van Dyke's History of Painting, Packard's Zoology, Colton's Handbook.

LATIN.—Chase and Stewart's Cicero De Senectute, Smith's Horace, C. and S. Livy, Harrington's Plautus, Tyler's Tacitus, Harper's Latin Lexicon, Gildersleeve's Latin Grammars, Wolfe's Latin Syntax, Duff's Lucretius, Stickney's De Natura Deorum, Abbott's Cicero's Selected Letters.

GREEK.—Mather's Herodotus, Seymour's Homer's Iliad, Tyler's Plato's Apology and Crito, Tyler's Demosthenes De Corona, White's Sophocles' Edipus Tyrannus, Allen's Euripides' Medea, Liddell and Scott's Greek Lexicon, Goodwin's Greek Grammar, Perrin's Homer's Odyssey.

GERMAN.—Brant's Reader, Jaynes' Meissner Grammar.

TEXT BOOKS.

The following text-books are in use:

MATHEMATICS. Wentworth's Higher Arithmetic, Well's Academic Algebra, Wentworth's Higher Algebra, White's Geometry.

ENGLISH. Raub's English Grammar, Montgomery's American History, Chittenden's Composition, Watkin's American Literature, William's Rhetoric, Thorpe's Civil Government, Myer's Greek History, Allen's and Mommsen's Roman Histories, Martin's Human Body, Smith's Reading and Speaking.

LATIN. Collier and Daniels' First Latin, Chase and Stewart's Caesar, Cicero, Virgil, Sallust, Gildersleeve's Latin Grammar, Wolf's Latin Syntax, Arnold's Latin Prose.

GREEK. White's Beginner's Greek Book, Goodwin's Xenophon's Anabasis, Goodwin's Greek Grammar, Boise's Greek Prose.

DEPARTMENT STATEMENTS

DEPARTMENT OF GREEK.

Prof. J. E. McAfee.

FRESHMAN YEAR. The Sophomore L. B. students are classed with the Freshman A. B., and Greek is required throughout the year. The first and second terms are devoted to the Epic literature with such attention to Attic prose writings as shall keep the students in touch with Attic standards. One half or more of the third term is devoted to the New Testament Greek and the remainder to classical prose writings.

SOPHOMORE YEAR. The work is required for all A. B. students not taking Latin. First Term.—Lysias. Introduction to Greek Oratory. The class of 1901 represented an Athenian law court held in McCormick Chapel at which all the Greek students of College and Academy were in attendance. The Mantitheus and Grain Dealers' orations were translated and used in their places in the proceedings. Second Term.—Plato. Introduction to Greek Philosophy. The Apology of Socrates is regularly analyzed and a broader view taken of Plato's works. Third Term.—Sophocles. Introduction to Greek Drama. The Antigone is regularly analyzed. Members of the class of 1900 presented Euripides' Medea before a large audience in McCormick Chapel. The translation was made by the students.

Junior-and-Senior electives in the classics have been arranged, the first term of Junior year in Greek being required for Juniors not electing other language study. Five hours per week may be devoted to either classic language during any term of the Junior and Senior years. Members of the two classes being thrown together the same course will not be followed in immediately successive years. Space is not allowed for the adequate outlining of the courses which are feasible. Below are bare suggestions. The student is encouraged to consult freely with the instructor and observe announcements which are made from time to time.

1. NEW TESTAMENT. There is much available apparatus for critical study.

2. HISTORY. Critical times may be studied minutely through the ancient and modern historians, or more extended periods studied broadly.

3. PHILOSOPHY. The Sophists, Plato, Aristotle and the later schools.

4. ORATORY. Demosthenes most fully repays study.

5. TRAGEDY. Worthy of division into several terms' work.

6. COMEDY. Aristophanes and history of comedy in the Hellenistic period.

7. THE HELLENISTIC WORLD. History. The so-called literature of the decadence. Even the early patristic literature.

8. EPIC LITERATURE. Advanced work on Homer and pieces of the Epic Cycle.

9. LYRIC POETRY. Pindar and the later poets.

10. MODERN GREEK. Will be found profitable occasionally.

11. SEMITICS. A course in elementary Hebrew, with attention to the contact of Semitic and Greek culture. For Seniors' middle term, when thought advisable, followed by a seminary in reading Hebrew, one hour per week, during the spring term if desired. The Theological Seminaries strongly recommend that students come prepared with some knowledge of Hebrew. For men about to enter the seminaries, this course may be found desirable.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS AND ASTRONOMY.

Prof. Mattoon.

The Freshmen pursue the study of the Essentials of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry (Mattoon), during the winter term. This is followed by a term of surveying and Civil Engineering. The department is equipped with a transit, Y-level, chains, steel tape and leveling rod; and the principles of land surveying, irrigation, water-works and railroad engineering are studied by means of actual work in the field and by plotting the surveys that are made.

Students in the Classical Course, during the fall term of the Sophomore year, pursue the study of Loomis' Analytic Geometry, including all the essential properties of the conic sections and higher plane curves.

The same author's Differential and Integral Calculus may be elected for the remaining terms of the Sophomore year.

The rules for differentiation and integration are demonstrated, and their application to a wide range of practical examples is illustrated in problems solved by the students. During the spring term, weekly lessons are given in explanation of the apparatus in the Observatory, with special reference to the mathematics involved in its use.

In the Junior year, Young's General Astronomy is studied one term, covering practically the entire book. Particular attention is given to the laws of planetary motion, satellite systems and the subject of cosmogony. The more elementary mathematical computations receive sufficient attention to lay the foundation for the more rigid investigation to be pursued later in the course.

Two terms of Practical Astronomy, one in the Junior and one in the Senior year, are elective. Various reference books supply the principles that the students employ in computing occultations and eclipses. Time, latitude and longitude observations are taken, in which the students use the combined transit and zenith telescope and the chronograph. The equatorial telescope and its micrometer are used in the study of the planets and their satellites, double and multiple stars and nebulae.

DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY.

Prof. Burt.

GENERAL HISTORY. Myer's text gives an outline for a study of the great historical movements since Rome's fall. Lectures and assigned reading with essays, supplement the text.

ENGLISH HISTORY. The leading facts are acquired and an accurate knowledge of England's institutions, with their relations to other countries, is attempted. A text book, supplemented with lectures, is used. Written reviews, extra reading and outlines, or essays, are required of all.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION. Required of L. B. Juniors, winter term. Painter's History is used, with Compayre's and other works as references.

HISTORY OF AMERICAN POLITICS. Required study for A. B. Juniors, two hours, winter term. Johnston's American Politics is the text used. A course of collateral reading is outlined.

HISTORY OF CIVILIZATION. Required third term Senior, for all except those who have elected Zoology or Astronomy. Guizot's lectures on the History of Civilization of Modern Europe form the basis for the work in this subject. The text is supplemented by lectures. A thesis is required of each student.

CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND. Elective for A. B. Juniors, 2½ hours winter term. The English Constitution by Jesse Macy is the text book.

DEPARTMENT OF BIOLOGY.

Prof. Findlay.

This department includes a study of the general principles governing life with a special application to plants and animals. The method of study is three-fold: first, the dissection of a typical specimen by each student according to an outline, second, reference reading on obscure points, third, lectures and quizzes. One catalogue hour in this department is reckoned as two in the laboratory.

General Biology occupies two hours a week during the fall and winter terms of the Junior year. Sedgwick and Wilson's General Biology is the text book.

Botany is required of the Juniors five hours in the spring term. The Morphology of the Phænogams receives most attention. Spaulding's Introduction to Botany is used in the laboratory coupled with references and written directions. Wood's American Botanist and Florist is the analysis guide used. An elective term of five hours weekly is open to the Seniors, fall term. Typical Algæ, Mosses, Liverworts, and Ferns of this locality, with the common allied marine forms are examined. Arthur, Barnes and Coulter's Plant Dissection is used with Campbell's Botany.

Zoology is required three hours in the fall term and is elective five hours weekly the remainder of the Senior year. The first term is devoted to the Arthropods, the second and third to the Vertebrates. Much care is taken that by dissections and drawings each one may acquire a thorough knowledge of two animals at least from each of the sub-kingdoms. Colton's Manual and Packard's Briefer Course are in the hands of the students, to be used with reference books. It is hoped that this course will prove of especial value to those expecting to study along medical lines.

In this work a small laboratory fee is charged to defray the cost of materials consumed and as rental for the compound microscopes and dissecting instruments.

Geology is at present classed with this department and is studied by the Seniors during the spring term. The formations and fossils of this locality are examined and compared with the museum specimens. Le Conte's Elements of Geology is the text.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH.

Prof. Verrill.

COMPOSITION. Freshmen write themes twice a week throughout the year, read Genung's Practical Rhetoric for direction and inspiration, secure gradually by advice and correction the ready command of accurate English which marks the college-trained.

LITERATURE. Juniors and Seniors read, respectively, the great prose and great poetry of the English race, from Beowulf to Kipling. The study and discussion is both historical and sympathetic, the aim being to make real the vital worth of literature as a cross-section of the complex tissues of human thought and feeling. In 1899-1900, the longer works read are as follows:

Junior. First Term—Chaucer's Prologue, exemplifying the principles of English philology. Chaucer's Knightes Tale, Nonne Preestes Tale, and Tennyson's Idylls of the King, for the contrast between two different men of different centuries in the handling of poetical romance. Second Term.—Shakspere's Merchant of Venice and Hamlet, with Dowden's Primer, for the principles of dramatic development and characterization. Milton's Paradise Lost, as type of the epic. Third Term. Dryden, Pope, Johnson; Gray, Goldsmith, Cowper, Burns; Wordsworth, Coleridge, Scott; Byron, Shelley, Keats—for the change from classicism to romanticism, the sensitiveness of great art.

Senior. First Term.—Bacon, Addison; Burke, Webster; Macaulay, Ruskin. Second Term. Carlyle, Emerson; Eliot, Hawthorne; Lowell, Browning. This grouping offers abundant opportunity for comparison and contrast between different times, between England and America, between the motives and methods of different personalities finding expression in the various forms of essay, oration and novel.

ENGLISH READING. Every student stands examination each term on at least one masterpiece selected from a prescribed course.

ELOCUTION. For Freshmen and Sophomores, weekly drill in themes and declamation; for Juniors and Seniors, weekly practice in debate and oratory.

DEPARTMENT OF BIBLICAL HISTORY AND PRACTICAL CHRISTIAN TRAINING.

Prof. S. L. McAfee.

Instruction in this department has a two-fold aim: first, to give a comprehensive understanding of the word of God, and second, to impart a ready skill in the use of this knowledge in the various lines of Christian activity.

The Course is preceded by two years of preparation in the Academy.

NEW TESTAMENT HISTORY. The historical connection between the Old Testament and the New; the life of Christ and the History of the Apostolic Church.

BIBLICAL INTRODUCTION AND ANALYSIS. H. F. Sells' Bible Study by Books is used as a text and supplemented with lectures.

SABBATH SCHOOL WORK. History of the origin and growth of the modern Sabbath School; its government, forms of organization; duties and qualification of officers and teachers; Institutes, Conventions. The instruction is given by lectures with class drills.

ORGANIZED CHRISTIAN WORK. The aim is to gain an intelligent apprehension of the various organized agencies through which Christianity is advanced. Its starting point is the Church, its composition, its unity and its true succession. The various forms of organization it has assumed are considered, special prominence being given to the Presbyterian Polity. The agencies which the church has employed in the prosecution of its various lines of work, local, denominational and interdenominational, are studied.

EVIDENCES OF CHRISTIANITY. Alexander's text is used, with lectures. Theses are required. References to other accessible works are given, and the more modern anti-Christian objections are pointed out.

OUTLINES OF DOCTRINE. Reid's Pocket System of Theology is used as text, supplemented with lectures, and theses by the class.

SACRED RHETORIC. Lectures on Homiletics. Analysis of texts and exercises in preparation and delivery of discourses. Bible Readings and the practical use of the Bible in Christian work, with drill in methods of Lay Evangelism.

DEPARTMENT OF GERMAN.

Prof. Burt.

German is an elective study for four consecutive terms, beginning with winter term for A. B. Sophomores and L. B. Juniors. A thorough grammatical and reading knowledge is aimed at, and with this is combined work in composition. The work varies from year to year but the general outline is as follows:

FIRST TERM. Grammar, Joynes-Meissner; Reader, Brandt.

SECOND TERM. Grammar and Reader continued: Schiller's Wilhelm Tell; Sight Reading, Höher als die Kirche, „Onkel und Nichte,” or „Der Schwiegersohn.”

THIRD TERM. Grammar reviewed: Schiller's „Jungfrau,” Lessing's „Minna von Barnhelm;” Selections from Heine's Prosa, Sight Work, „Der Bibliothekar,” „Köpnickerstrasse,” or „Drei Kleine Lustspiele.”

FOURTH TERM. Grammar (Whitney's) with prose: Goethe's Faust, Part I; Heine's „Die Harzreise.”

DEPARTMENT OF PHILOSOPHY.

Prof. C. B. McAfee.

PSYCHOLOGY. Professor Bowne's Introduction to Psychological Theory is used as a guide rather than as final authority. The method is introspective, and tests of observation and experience are constantly made. No laboratory work is attempted, but the results of the best experimental work are available. The object of the course is not primarily information but rather culture. Lectures are given on the development of the powers.

LOGIC. Professor Creighton's Introductory Logic is used as a text. The work is taken up after the study of Psychology, which is supposed to have laid foundation for it.

Special attention is paid to the Square of Opposition and to the common fallacies. There is much written work.

HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY. Treated historically, the Instructor's Outline for a History of Philosophy furnishing the basis, with references to Seelye's Schwegler, Thilly's Weber and other standard works. The study is continued throughout the Senior year once or twice a week.

METAPHYSICS. An elective is course conducted in seminar form, with much reading. Dr. Hibben's little book on The Problems of Philosophy determines the general direction of the study. Effort is made to come at some conclusion on the important problems, and to understand the differing opinions. The College library is well equipped in this department for doing thorough work, and additions are made to it from time to time.

ESTHETICS. A short course in the history of painting has heretofore been offered. It is hoped that a more thorough course may be available hereafter. The course thus far has been offered especially to the young women but is available for the men

MORAL SCIENCE. Calderwood's Handbook is used. The Intuitional theory is dogmatically stated and defended, and the Evolution and Utilitarian theories are examined. The study of the will is reserved for this course and is critically pursued. Discussions are frequent and lectures are given.

BUTLER'S ANALOGY. The text with Emory's Analysis is used. The abundant recent material on the analogical argument is available, and such discussions are arranged as bring Bishop Butler's argument into modern application.

INTERNATIONAL LAW. The revised text of Davis' work is used, with many side references and study of current events. Woolsey, Lawrence, Maine, Story, Wharton, and other authorities are examined as far as possible. Special attention is paid to the position of the United States in international matters, and recent events have shown the great importance of the study.

[An introductory course in Psychology is pursued under direction of this department in the fourth year of the Academy. Its design is practical, rather than theoretical. The Halleck text is followed in the main, and the students are urged to observation rather than to reading in connection with the work.]

DEPARTMENT OF LATIN.

Prof. Wolfe.

Latin is required throughout the Freshman year for all students, and for a portion of the class throughout Sophomore year and first term of Junior year. Thereafter it is elective throughout the course.

The library is now furnished with the latest and best works in Roman history, biography, literature, law, archaeology, epigraphy, art and daily life, to which constant reference is made. The work of the Latin course is thus directed to three ends, facile command of language, theory of verbal and syntactic formations and development, broad culture derived from acquaintance with Roman civilization on many sides. Latin prose is carried through the course.

LIVY. Portions of XXI and XXII with sight reading. Critical historical study of the period.

HORACE. Odes. Chiefly a literary study, noting the essential difference between poetic and prosaic modes of expression and illustrated from both Latin and English literature.

CICERO. De Senectute and De Amicitia. Collateral reading of Plutarch's Lives and modern essays on Old Age and Friendship. Illustrated lectures on Roman Antiquities with research and drawings by the class.

HORACE. Satires and Epistles with investigation of Roman private life and Philosophy.

PLAUTUS. Captivi and Trinummus. Theses by the class upon Roman and Attic drama, production of plays, etc.

JUVENAL AND LETTERS OF CICERO. Half a term each with comparison of Persius and Martial for the one, and of Seneca and Pliny for the other.

Electives open to Juniors and Seniors, courses offered on alternate years.

Tacitus, with historical survey of his times and of the Germanic tribes.

Latin Literature, reading, lectures and essays.

Roman Law, lectures with reading from institutes of Gaius and Justinian.

Roman Philosophy, Lucretius bk. V, Cicero. De Natura Deorum.

Roman Epigraphy, on basis of Egbert's Inscriptions.

Science of Language, lectures and reference work in the Carter Philological Library.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS AND CHEMISTRY.

Prof. Dean.

PHYSICS. This branch of study is pursued by the Sophomore A. B. and the Junior L. B. students, during the fall and winter terms. The instruction is given by lessons, assigned in the text book, supplemented by lectures and references together with carefully selected experiments.

The laws of mechanics and heat are studied in the fall term.

During the winter term Electricity and Magnetism, Sound and Light are briefly surveyed.

The apparatus in this department renders it possible to illustrate and to give experimental demonstrations of most of the important phenomena.

Special attention is paid to the solution of elementary problems and written reviews are held every two or three weeks.

Gage's Elements of Physics is used as a text.

CHEMISTRY. General Chemistry is taught with Remsen's Briefer Course as a text and Remsen's Manual as a laboratory guide.

Special attention is given to the laws, characteristics, and occurrence of the common elements.

The laboratory accommodates thirty-two students and is fitted with the usual reagents and appurtenances. The work is required of the Juniors six hours per week during the winter term. Laboratory fees vary from one to two dollars. The recent large addition of reference books both in Physics and Chemistry is of great help in the study of these branches.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Prof. L. M. McAfee.

Walker's text is used as a basis for consideration of the subject. Attention is devoted chiefly to the production and distribution of commodities. A library of several hundred carefully selected books affords opportunity for more detailed study than the allotted time for class-room work will allow. The text is supplemented by lectures and references to volumes in the library. Application of the principles stated is made to a few of the more simple and pressing questions of the day.

DEPARTMENT OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC.

Mrs. S. L. McAfee.

This department meets the needs of those who wish to pursue a course in Piano or Organ Music. Particular attention is given to thoroughness in principles in order that pupils may early experience the practical value of that which is acquired.

While Studies and Exercises are pursued during the entire course they are varied by introducing such selections from good composers as will tend to the greatest advancement of the pupils.

Lessons one hour in length.

Instruments for practice 50 cts. per month.

All pupils are expected to practice at least one hour each day. Term of 20 Lessons $10.00.
